Dear Head of School,

The educational institutions imparting education at the primary, middle, secondary and senior secondary level are basic temples of learning. At these places, the basic principles of moral and spiritual education are taught to the children of the modern society. These children will be future citizens. It is the prime duty of all of us, those who are involved in imparting education to the children, to ensure that this service is to be performed in the form of a social obligation. Each and every society who is running a school stands by the commitment that it will run the institution on the no-profit no-loss basis and it will be a service to society and eventually to nation indeed.

We, the educated citizens of this great country have the moral responsibility to do as much as we can for the noble cause of nation building by preparing the children to face the future problems of this country. Each and every child of this country has equal right under article 14 of the Constitution to enjoy all the facilities available to acquire the best education. There can be no distinction between the children belonging to different strata of the society on the basis of economic condition of their parents.

It was with the above objectives in mind that the Directorate of Education gave directions to recognized schools to give 20% reservation to children of weaker section of society. I appeal to all of you to come forward, prove your worth by coming up to the expectation of the society to impart good, fruitful education to our children, who come from economically weaker section of society. I am sure that your organization would take all necessary steps to ensure implementation of this scheme, both in the letter as well as in spirit.

With best wishes,

Rajendra
